

Who / Whom Review

Who is a subject; it corresponds to he .	Whom is an object; it corresponds to him .
Even the little tailor, (who, whom) the mayor had fined five shillings on the previous Monday for being drunk and bloodthirsty in the streets, stirred up his Christmas pudding in his attic room.	With an ill-will Scrooge dismounted from his stool, and tacitly admitted closing time to the expectant clerk, (who, whom) instantly snuffed his candle out, and put on his hat.
The mayor had fined him five shillings on the previous Monday.	He instantly snuffed his candle out.
Choose whom .	Choose who .
Even the little tailor, (who, whom ) the mayor had fined ...	and tacitly admitted closing time to the expectant clerk, ( who , whom) instantly snuffed his candle out ...

1. The yard was so dark that even Scrooge, (who, whom) knew its every stone, needed to feel about with his hands.
2. "But you were always a good man of business, Jacob," faltered Scrooge, (who, whom) now began to apply the ghost's words to himself.
3. He had been quite familiar with one old ghost, in a white waistcoat, with a monstrous iron safe attached to its ankle, (who, whom) cried piteously at being unable to assist a wretched woman with an infant, (who, whom) it saw below, upon a door-step.
4. Scrooge, starting up into a half-recumbent attitude, found himself face to face with the unearthly visitor (who, whom) drew them.
5. Some shaggy ponies now were seen trotting towards them with boys upon their backs, (who, whom) called to other boys in country gigs and carts, driven by farmers.
6. "Always a delicate creature, (who, whom) a breath might have withered," said the Ghost. "But she had a large heart!"
7. in the hall appeared the schoolmaster himself, (who, whom) glared on Master Scrooge with a ferocious look.
8. This was not addressed to Scrooge, or to any one (who, whom) he could see, but it produced an immediate effect.
9. The Spirit signed to him to listen to the two apprentices, (who, whom) were pouring out their hearts in praise of Fezziwig

10. ... just in time to greet the father, (who, whom) came home attended by a man laden with Christmas toys and presents
11. The people (who, whom) were shovelling away on the housetops were jovial and full of glee
12. Nor could he think of any one immediately connected with himself, to (who, whom) he could apply them.
13. "What the half-drunken woman (who, whom) I told you of last night, said to me."
14. "To (who, whom) will our debt be transferred?"
15. Bob told them of the extraordinary kindness of Mr. Scrooge's nephew, (who, whom) he had scarcely seen but once, and who, meeting him in the street that day, and seeing that he looked a little—"just a little down you know," said Bob, inquired what had happened to distress him.
16. "Tell me what man that was (who, whom) we saw lying dead?"

Answers on next page

Answers

1. The yard was so dark that even Scrooge, (who, whom) knew its every stone, needed to feel about with his hands.
2. "But you were always a good man of business, Jacob," faltered Scrooge, (who, whom) now began to apply the ghost's words to himself.
3. He had been quite familiar with one old ghost, in a white waistcoat, with a monstrous iron safe attached to its ankle, (who, whom) cried piteously at being unable to assist a wretched woman with an infant, (who, whom) it saw below, upon a door-step.
4. Scrooge, starting up into a half-recumbent attitude, found himself face to face with the unearthly visitor (who, whom) drew them.
5. Some shaggy ponies now were seen trotting towards them with boys upon their backs, (who, whom) called to other boys in country gigs and carts, driven by farmers.
6. "Always a delicate creature, (who, whom) a breath might have withered," said the Ghost. "But she had a large heart!"
7. in the hall appeared the schoolmaster himself, (who, whom) glared on Master Scrooge with a ferocious look.
8. This was not addressed to Scrooge, or to any one (who, whom) he could see, but it produced an immediate effect.
9. The Spirit signed to him to listen to the two apprentices, (who, whom) were pouring out their hearts in praise of Fezziwig
10. ... just in time to greet the father, (who, whom) came home attended by a man laden with Christmas toys and presents
11. The people (who, whom) were shovelling away on the housetops were jovial and full of glee
12. Nor could he think of any one immediately connected with himself, to (who, whom) he could apply them.
13. "What the half-drunken woman (who, whom) I told you of last night, said to me."
14. "To (who, whom) will our debt be transferred?"
15. Bob told them of the extraordinary kindness of Mr. Scrooge's nephew, (who, whom) he had scarcely seen but once, and who, meeting him in the street that day, and seeing that he looked a little—"just a little down you know," said Bob, inquired what had happened to distress him.
16. "Tell me what man that was (who, whom) we saw lying dead?"