

Fix the errors in the following sentences.

1. If Mr. Stark finds out who put the coffee grounds in the garbage disposal, he would be livid.
2. The time of the fireworks show was arranged so that the noise will not break the city's curfew.
3. The resonant frequencies create a sonic barrier around the compound so that the inhabitants would be unable to escape.
4. Halliday's riddle is written so enigmatically that most people would not understand it.
5. If the reclusive author ever wrote a new book, it will immediately be scrutinized by literary critics.
6. If I discovered a new element, I will name it after my pet rock, Bartholomew.
7. The child would be in big trouble if he decides to pilfer a cookie from the cookie jar.
8. The poor Sneetch will be shunned from society if he did not have a star on his belly.
9. The tanks are deployed on the eastern flank because they would mislead the opposing army.
10. If my brother actually took dancing lessons, maybe his "signature dance move" won't resemble the movements of someone who had just stepped on a Lego brick.